For the sake of technology and the US economy please make the remaining states come to an agreement with Microsoft. I feel that these lawyers are going for the money just like they did when they targeted big tobacco. Microsoft has done a lot of good for technology and we all know that Microsoft has done a lot of good for the economy. With the events of Sept. 11th I would think that the government would be more interested in getting the economy up and running again instead of this relentless pursuit of Microsoft and its billions!
